Insights: The Benefits of Small Kindness

In a world that keeps getting bigger, it can be easy for any of us to feel lost, unwanted, or tired. Our days come with many small stresses that can reinforce whatever negative feelings we might have.

A Little Kindness for Everybody

Small gestures can add up quickly. But they don't have to all be negative. Instead of letting the world wear us down with a thousand papercuts, we can flip the script and build each other up with micro-affirmations.

Reflection: What are some of the stressors in your life? Is there a daily annoyance that wears away at you? Do these small irritations add up—and could you replace them with small kindnesses?

Cyber Hacks: Email Address Protection

In today's digital age, it's becoming increasingly common for individuals to provide their personal email address for various purposes such as signing up for online accounts, subscribing to newsletters, or even communicating with friends and family. However, providing your personal email address can be dangerous from a cybersecurity standpoint. While it may be convenient to use your personal email address for these purposes, it can also put you at risk. Cybercriminals often use personal email addresses to launch phishing attacks, malware infections, and other cybercrimes.

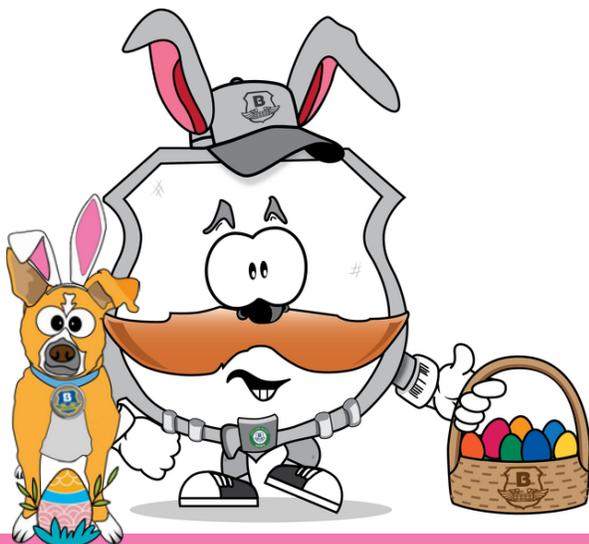

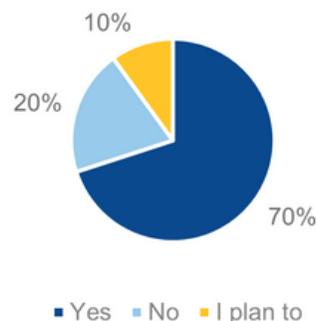

Therefore, it's crucial to be aware of the potential dangers associated with providing your personal email address and take measures to protect yourself.

Here are a few tips to help you stay safe:

- Only provide your email address to trusted sources and avoid giving it out to unknown or suspicious websites.
- Use a unique and strong passphrase for your email account. A strong passphrase includes a combination of letters, numbers, and symbols.
- Enable two-factor authentication on your email account. Two-factor authentication adds an extra layer of security to your account by requiring a code in addition to your password.
- Create a special email address specifically for subscriptions and online activity and use it exclusively for this purpose. Do not use your name or last name when creating the email address.
