Insights: Finding Happiness Habits at Work

How do we turn that frown upside down? Positive psychology, which focuses on prosperity and leading healthy, happy lives, may be able to help. Martin Seligman, a psychologist, and leader in the happiness field, created the PERMA model to help people understand positive psychology.

It focuses on five elements of well-being:

- Positive emotions
- Engagement
- Relationships
- Meaning
- Accomplishments

Cyber Hacks: Personally Identifiable Information (PII)

Personally Identifiable Information (PII) should be protected from inappropriate access, use, and disclosure. PII includes many types of data, including name, phone number, social security number, and address. Other types of sensitive data require even more care and protection, including gender, religion, ethnic background, and religious affiliation. The loss of PII can result in substantial harm to individuals, including identity theft or other fraudulent use of the information.

Brink's employees and contractors may have access to PII and other sensitive data. We must protect that information from loss and misuse. PII has value – just like money. Be thoughtful about who gets that information and how it's collected through apps and websites.

Tips on protecting your PII data:

1. Use VPN - Also known as a virtual private network, a VPN helps protect your vital PII and other data with bank-grade encryption.
2. Keep you Social Security number secure - In the U.S., the Social Security Number (SSN) is one of the most prized pieces of PII as it unlocks the door to employment, finances, and much more.
3. Protect your data and files - Protecting your files with encryption is a core concept in data and information security, and thus it's a powerful way to protect you.
4. Look for HTTPS when you browse - The "S" stands for secure. Any time you are shopping, banking, or sharing any kind of PII, look for "https" at the start of the web address.
5. Keep tabs on your credit and your PII - Theft of your PII can of course lead to credit cards and other accounts being opened falsely in your name.
